- E. Development Plan adopted December 3, 1996. (Ord. 96-70-4, 12-3-1996)

10-1-3: SCOPE:

- A. Long Range Needs: Certain features of the Official Comprehensive Plan are, of necessity, based on future public needs which are expected to prevail when a majority of the land within and tributary to the corporate area is subdivided and developed or is otherwise improved and occupied. Among such features are: (1978 Code §21.04; amd. Ord. 96-70-4, 12-3-1996)
  1. Alignment and width of rights of way of major and other streets.
  2. Location and size of sites for parks, playgrounds, public buildings and grounds.
  3. Elevations of building sites and buildings near storm water drainage channels<sup>1</sup> and other features of the design of drains, ditches and sanitary sewers which will lessen or avoid the hazards from future flood water levels. (1978 Code §21.04)
- B. Development To Meet Demands Of Growth: Certain features of the Official Comprehensive Plan shall be realized by stages, and the need for or extent of a particular improvement will depend on the demands created by surrounding growth and ability to finance its costs. Such improvements include: pavements, culverts, bridges, storm sewers, opening of railroad grade crossings, grade separations, sanitary sewerage, water supply facilities, development of parks and playgrounds, school and other public buildings, grounds and facilities. When such improvements shall be carried out or constructed, the extent of their design (whether provided by the subdivider or developer of land or by the Municipality or other public
